THE BAPTIST COWBOY

A cowboy, who had just moved to Wyoming from Texas, walks into a bar and orders three mugs of Bud. He sits in the back of the room, drinking a sip out of each one in turn. When he finishes them, he orders three more.

The bartender says, “You know, a mug goes flat after I draw it. It would taste better if you bought one at a time”

The cowboy replies, “Well, you see, I have two brothers. One is in Colorado, the other in Arizona. When we all left Texas, we promised that we’d drink this way to remember the days when we drank together. So, I’m drinking one beer for each of my brothers and one for myself.”

The bartender admits that this is nice and leaves it there.

The cowboy becomes a regular and always drinks the same way.

One day, he comes in and only orders two mugs. All the regulars take notice and fall silent. The bartender says, “I don’t want to intrude on your grief, but I wanted to offer my condolences on your loss.”

The cowboy looks puzzled for a moment, then a light dawns in his eyes and he laughs. “Oh, no, everybody’s just fine.” He explains, “It’s just that my wife and I joined the Baptist Church and I had to quit drinking.”

“Hasn’t affected my brothers though.”
